

*Raphanus raphanistrum
Commonly: Wild Radish
Vascular Plant Family: Brassicaceae

Flowers autumn to spring

Raphanus raphanistrum* is a bristly annual herb up to 1m tall with basal as well as stem leaves. It is native to Europe.

The flowers vary in colour from white through yellow to pink. The flowers have 4 sepals up to 1cm long, 4 petals up to 2cm long and 6 stamens.

The fruit is cylindrical, constricted between the seeds up to 9cm long and 5mm wide, with a slender conical apical beak.

Bristles occur along the stem and on the leaves.

The basal leaves are lobed and up to 30cm long. The stem leaves are smaller.

*Indicates it is a weed